PREFACE.

The present lists, forming together the sixth of the Library's bibliographical publications, were prepared at the suggestion of the Reference Librarian, in order to collect for convenient use the titles of books of a special kind, much called for, but scattered throughout the catalogue. It is hoped that they will suggest many sources of information on specific points or subjects which otherwise might be overlooked. The scope of both lists is, of course, that of the Library, and includes the social, physical, and natural sciences and their applications. The lists contain 1,610 titles and are intended to include all material in the Library within their scope.

The arrangement of the titles within each list is that of the classed catalogue, but the number of titles entered in more than one place has been reduced to a minimum. The order within the smallest subdivisions is chronological, the latest work being given first; but as the headings in most cases cover several subdivisions, the reasons for the arrangement under each heading are generally not apparent. Peculiarities of typographical arrangement have been determined chiefly by the previous use of the same matter on printed catalogue cards, the type for which has been electrotyped. Inconsistencies in the form of entry are due to the fact that the older titles are not always reprinted when a change of form has been made. The most conspicuous change has been caused by the adoption of the cataloguing rules formulated by a committee of the American Library Association and accepted by the Library of Congress. Titles prepared since April, 1903, are in accordance with these rules.

The index gives in one alphabetical arrangement subjects, titles, and names of persons, institutions, and places.

REGULATIONS

The library is open to readers every day, excepting Sundays, from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Books shelved in the Reading Room may be consulted without formality, but after use are to be left on the tables, instead of being replaced on the shelves.

Current periodicals may be consulted within the periodical alcove; and may be obtained for use at the tables in the Reading Room by presenting to the Periodical Clerk a serial call-slip properly filled out.

Books not shelved in the Reading Room may be obtained by presenting to the Delivery Clerk a book call-slip properly filled out. These books are to be returned to the delivery desk.

Persons engaged in special research, if satisfactorily vouched for, may be admitted to the Stack Room. All books used under this provision are to left on the tables in the Stack Room.

Books of great value and rarity may be consulted only in the presence of an attendant.

Writing or marking in books belonging to the library, or their mutilation in any manner, is forbidden. The tracing of plans will be permitted if done over a celluloid cover, but not otherwise. These covers will be furnished upon application at the delivery desk.

A printed card catalogue has been prepared for the use of the public. It is in three sections, alphabetical author, alphabetical subject, and classed subject.

The Reference Librarian, in charge of the Reading Room, will give assistance in the use of the catalogue and the selection of books.
